CAMPING AND EDUCATION FOUNDATION

2008 Annual Report

CAMPING AND EDUCATION FOUNDATION
MISSION STATEMENT:

At the Camping and Education Foundation,
our mission is to develop young men and women in body and spirit through wilderness experiences that celebrate a love of the outdoors. Each year the Foundation supports camping organizations, like Kooch-i-ching and Ogichi Daa Kwe, which teach self reliance and teamwork, environmental awareness, and life-long community.

The Camping and Education Foundation believes:

At Camp Kooch-i-ching, its mission is to inspire the growth of young men through fun, challenging, wilderness adventures that promote self discovery, teamwork and service to others.

At Camp Ogichi Daa Kwe, its mission is to empower the strong spirits of young women through wilderness tripping and life-long community.

CAMPING AND EDUCATION FOUNDATION
A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT AND CHAIRMAN:

Dear Friends:

The Board of Trustees is pleased to report that the organization is on firm financial footing. At the same time, we are adjusting to the new economic reality. We are pursuing a measured, strategic approach as we prepare for both the upcoming season as well as the development of our future long-range plans.

Enrollment at both camps is strong, retention is high, and we anticipate meeting each camp's budgeted goals. Tuition revenue at Kooch-i-ching and Ogichi Daa Kwe covers approximately 66% and 33% of operating costs respectively, and we are confident this pattern will continue in 2009. As we go to press, Kooch-i-ching's applications are closely tracking those of 2008, and we are pleased to report that the new 3-week Prep program is nearly full. Ogichi Daa Kwe has filled both its regular camper and staff training sessions and continues to fill its short session trips.

The Foundation's annual fund and annual draw from the endowment—based on 5% of the endowment's value over the past 8 quarters—covers the balance of the organization's expenses. In 2008, the annual fund was down 25% due, largely, to the economic downturn and we have adjusted our projections for 2009. The endowment suffered as well, off approximately 28%. We remain confident in our fund manager, Hirtle Callaghan, under the close supervision of the Foundation Board and the Finance Committee. We have revisited our investment policy objectives twice within the last 12 months. In light of this review, the Board has provided Hirtle Callaghan with the latitude to move between 25 - 40% of the endowment's assets to cash equivalents. Although past performance is certainly not an indicator of future results, our primary objective is to reduce current volatility while protecting Kooch-i-ching and Ogichi Daa Kwe's core programs and people.

Correspondingly, this year's budgets will reflect these challenges, deferring capital expenditures, yet making no fundamental changes to the areas which impact young men and women the most; their safety and the quality of their summer experience both on trips and in camp. Simply put, no other organization offers the level of wilderness adventure and challenge that Kooch-i-ching or Ogichi Daa Kwe does. The organization's recent participation in a consortium with the East Coast's best camps has validated the Camping and Education Foundation's preeminence in this arena.

The Foundation is grateful for and dependent on the attention and generosity of our community – alumni, parents, and friends. Because of your financial support, we are more committed than ever to fulfill our mission, developing young men and women in body and spirit through wilderness experiences that celebrate a love of the outdoors.

As always, please continue to help us spread the word about this wonderful experience in the north woods that has touched all of our lives.

Thank you again for supporting this great legacy.

Sincerely,

Hugh R. Haller

Total Expenses	$1,338,804
Net Loss	($2,001,493) *

* This net loss is primarily due to market depreciation in conjunction with lower than anticipated annual fund gifts and enterprise projects. Enterprise projects include the acquisition of the new Foundation office at a purchase price of $781,000 with a $100,000 down payment which was drawn from the endowment, Ogichi Daa Kwe site development and planning work, carrying costs related to the Helleloid property, business systems upgrades, and interest on the line of credit. The majority of these expenses occurred before the market downturn.

Endowment Overview

Since 2005, Hirtle, Callaghan & Co. has served as the Camping and Education Foundation's chief investment officer, supervising the organization's endowment funds which are managed by both Hirtle Callaghan in Chicago, Illinois and Bremer Bank in International Falls, Minnesota.

On December 31, 2008, the Foundation's endowment totaled $3.8 million down from $5.7 million on December 31, 2007. Returns on the endowment in 2007 were (28)% net of all fees and distributions.

These funds continue to be invested with two purposes: to allow for the long-term growth of the principal of each fund and to provide current income for each camp's programs. By Board policy, the endowment's contribution to the operations is defined as 5% of the previous eight (8) quarter average market value of each fund. All funds are specifically designated as to their use.

CAMPING AND EDUCATION FOUNDATION
ENDOWMENT FUNDS

The following is a listing of the various funds and their corresponding market value for the period ending December 31, 2008:

Camp Kooch-i-ching General Endowment Fund:
$1,000,000
This fund was established under the leadership of John L. Holden. Income from this fund is used to support the camp's operations and help keep tuition and fees competitive.

Scholarship Endowment Funds:
$900,000
This fund was established by the Board of Trustees and comprises eight sub funds named in memory or honor of members of the camp family. Geoffrey M. Smith Fund, Tikam Berry Fund, Ed Rueve Fund, Mason Garner Fund, Adelaide and Stub Muhl Fund, John L. Holden Fund, George F. Hattemer Fund, and the Marge and Charles J. Schott Fund. Contributions to these funds will help grow the overall Scholarship Endowment. Income is restricted to providing grants-in-aid to deserving campers.

75th Campaign Endowment Funds:
$700,000
These funds are composed of the Endowment for Staff Excellence, Wilderness Quest Trips, Outstanding Program, and Native American Program. All benefit Camp Kooch-i-ching.

Building Maintenance Endowment Fund:
$700,000
This fund exists as a result of Kooch-i-ching's first major campaign. Then Chairman of the Board, Jim Woods, and Director, Tim Heinle, saw the importance of endowing more than 70 structures on Deer Island and at the Heinle landing, the mainland base. Use of the income from this fund is restricted to the maintenance of buildings, docks and vessels at Camp Kooch-i-ching.

CAMPING AND EDUCATION FOUNDATION
ENDOWMENT FUNDS

The Wadsworth Fund:
$300,000
This fund was established by Jack and Susy Wadsworth for several purposes: to endow the Unit Head's Compensation, the "Essence in Residence," – Kooch's storytelling, Indian Art, Beaver and Grand Medicine traditions – the maintenance of the wilderness, character of the tripping program, and a permanent discount for 8-week campers.

Pohl Family Combined Endowment Fund:
$200,000
This fund was established by Rich and Carol Pohl and their family to recognize their son, John, and his love for Kooch-i-ching and his appreciation for Ogichi Daa Kwe, its campers, and its staff and the impact they had on his life in the summer of 2006. The fund is for the benefit of both camps.

Camp Ogichi Daa Kwe General Endowment Fund:
$17,000
This fund was established by Jim Woods and through the James H. Woods Foundation to support Ogich Daa Kwe's operations and the long term possibility of securing a separate location for the camp.

John Pohl Memorial Award Fund:
$17,000
This fund was established by the family and friends of John Pohl in order to recognize John's love of wilderness trips and his outstanding tripping abilities at both Camp Kooch-i-ching and Camp Ogichi Daa Kwe.

Each of these funds is open to any individual or family who may wish to support these specific areas of each camp's respective programs.

Beginning with 1994, consistent donors to the Camping and Education Foundation are honored each year. The number after each donor's name marks the consecutive years of financial support to the Foundation. Although many of our most faithful donors have contributed each year for decades, recent technology has allowed us to keep accurate enough records to offer this special recognition.

There are an incredible number of individuals who advance the Camping and Education Foundation's mission through their volunteer efforts on the organization's behalf as well as through gifts that are of an in-kind nature. In Kind gifts are those which are either physical in nature or for professional pro bono services that the Foundation would pay for as part of normal operating expenses. The above list represents the Foundation's ongoing refinement of this category and thanks you in advance for your continued generosity of spirit.

CAMP KOOCH-I-CHING
