CAMPING AND EDUCATION FOUNDATION

2007 Annual Report

In today's society,
there are numerous demands on our children's attention; mass media splinters our focus. This onslaught can inhibit our children from developing a deeper appreciation of our natural surroundings, our precious environment and a love of the wilderness.

Since its inception, the mission of the Camping and Education Foundation has been to provide educational opportunities in a safe, wilderness setting.

As an umbrella organization, the Camping and Education Foundation fosters a sense of individual growth, support for the greater community, the ideals of service to others, respect for one's environment, the understanding of belonging and lifelong learning on the part of its campers, staff and alumni.

CAMPING AND EDUCATION FOUNDATION
CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE:

The year 2007 has been historically significant for the Camping and Education Foundation. Each of our camps enjoyed fabulous summers with strong, growing enrollment, improved programming, great spirit and old-fashioned fun. With the arrival of Hugh Haller as the organization's new President and chief executive, the Foundation has also grown in its own role as one of the premier 501(c)(3) not-for-profit organizations that promotes the growth and development of young people through outdoor education. This year of progress is matched only by the incredible support you bestow on us year after year.

It gives me great pleasure to report that alumni, parents, and friends have continued to support Camp Kooch-i-ching and Camp Ogichi Daa Kwe with tremendous and heartfelt generosity. For 2007, the Foundation received more than $1 million in total gifts with the majority of these dollars representing your support of the camps' operations. In fact, this year marked the largest combined annual fund in our history, which makes an incredible difference in the overall excellence of each camp's program, and I thank you for recognizing their significance.

What these financial achievements mean for Kooch-i-ching and Ogichi Daa Kwe go beyond fiscal considerations—as important as they are. They speak volumes about how our alumni view their camp experiences, and how those lessons have stuck with them into adulthood. They tell of the personal growth parents see in their sons and daughters as the result of our wilderness tripping and in-camp programs and philosophies. And they remind us that through our camps' respective traditions such as Little Council, Council Fires, the Rainer Swim, Friendship Dance, Trip Beads and the Grateful Circle, young peoples' lives are being changed every year, summer after summer.

At Kooch and Ogichi, we are singularly focused on building and developing young men and women in body and spirit through wilderness camping experiences—this is our mission; this is who we are and who we will always be. We care deeply about the direction of young people and nurture the best in them.

I wish to personally thank everyone who has helped advance our mission—by giving generously, entrusting a son or daughter to us, referring a camper, hosting an enrollment gathering, volunteering time and talent, or serving as member of the board of trustees, administration and summer staff. This organization has always been about people and it is because of your efforts and support that our organization is recognized as one of the preeminent wilderness tripping camps in the country.

Thanks for being part of this great legacy,

Chairman, Camping and Education Foundation

Endowment Overview

Since 2005, Hirtle, Callaghan & Co. has served as the Camping and Education Foundation's chief investment officer, supervising the organization's endowment funds managed by both Hirtle Callaghan in Chicago, Illinois and Bremer Bank in International Falls, Minnesota.

On December 31, 2007, the Foundation's endowment totaled $5.7 million up from $5.3 million on December 31, 2006. Returns on the endowment in 2007 were 8% net of all fees and distributions.

These funds are invested with two purposes: to allow for the long-term growth of the principal of each fund and to provide current income for each camp's programs. By Board policy, the endowment's contribution to the operations of each camp is defined as 5% of the previous eight (8) quarter average market value of each fund. All funds are specifically designated as to their use.

ENDOWMENT FUNDS

The following is a listing of the various funds and their corresponding market value for the period ending December 31, 2007:

Camp Kooch-i-ching General Endowment Fund:

Scholarship Endowment Funds:
$1,200,000
This fund was established by the Board of Trustees and comprises eight sub funds named in memory or honor of members of the camp family. Geoffrey M. Contributions to these funds will help grow the overall Scholarship Endowment. Income is restricted to providing grants-in-aid to deserving campers at both Kooch-i-ching and Ogichi Daa Kwe.

75th Campaign Endowment Funds:
$1,000,000

Beginning with 1994, consistent donors to the Camping and Education Foundation are honored each year. The number after each donor's name marks the consecutive years of financial support to the Foundation. Although many of our most faithful donors have contributed each year for decades, recent technology has allowed us to keep accurate enough records to offer this special recognition.
